Plenary ready to open up 'spiritual conversations' with members with nation-wide meetings ready to start

By Mark Bowling

WHEN Australia's plenary council assembly opens on Sunday it will be different to any other plenary meeting before it. It will be the country's fifth plenary event – the last was held in 1937, an exclusively male gathering, with only bishops, theologians and superiors of male religious orders attending.

The 2021 Plenary assembly will include women, religious and lay people among 280 members drawn from Catholic communities across the country.

The plenary will also be the first held virtually, as a necessary pandemic precaution.

"There have been moments when we wondered if we'd ever make it to this point, but led by the Holy Spirit and supported by a cast of thousands across the country, we're within touching distance," Plenary Council facilitator Lana Turvey-Collins, said.

A key component of the Plenary Council assembly will be the way members consider the 16 questions that make up the Council agenda.

Each day, some of those questions will be the focus of small group discernment, with about 10 members engaging in what is known as "spiritual conversations".

"One of the most important conversations in the Gospels is between the Angel Gabriel and Mary in the Annunciation. That conversation is the very model of the steps in discernment," Jesuit Brother Br Ian Cribb, who spoke about discernment during the Brisbane Assembly in 2019 – a lead up event for the Plenary Council – said.

"We work from the premise that the Spirit of God is at work in the world, in the Church, in our mission and in every person."

In two weeks, Catholic Mission will share with us the powerful story of Churai*, a mother who found her way to the Mother and Babies Home, run by the Good Shepherd Sisters in Bangkok, Thailand, during a desperate time in her life.

The Good Shepherd Sisters' mission is to promote the dignity and human rights of all, especially women and children; but they can only do that with support from people like you.

Please come with an open and generous heart.
