Youth Reflection - Traditional Connection

As Catholics, we believe that at death, the soul separates from the body and goes before Jesus Christ for judgment. No one knows how or when this resurrection of our bodies after death will occur. We call the time when all the dead will be raised the last day or the final judgment. Who will be raised from the dead? Christ will separate those who have followed his will by caring for others from those who did not follow his will because they lived only for themselves. Every person will be accountable for his or her own deeds. Those who followed the will of Christ will be welcomed into God's eternal, heavenly Kingdom. Those who failed to serve Christ in needy and suffering people will be sent to eternal punishment.

What will heaven be like? Heaven will have no pain or crying and will be a union in Christ of the whole human race. This community will live in the presence of the beatific vision. Hell, on the other hand, will be reserved for those who have chosen not to love God (see CCC, number 1033).

Wisdom Connection

No matter what happens, we need to remain faithful to the Word of God, for even though heaven and earth pass away, the Word of God is eternal and will not pass away. God's Word is the only sure thing. Mark tells his community that in times ahead, they will experience suffering and pain and that events will make the world a dark place. But Mark cautions Christians to never lose hope, the hope grounded in their faith in the Gospel of Jesus Christ, for those who remain faithful, in spite of world events, will be with Christ in eternity. Mark warns us that as Christians, we will have to profess our faith by the way we live, and in times of persecution we may even have to die for our faith. But at the Second Coming of Jesus, the faithful will be gathered by Jesus as a community to eternally live in the holy presence of God the Father. Mark also tells us that no one knows when the Second Coming of Jesus will happen. In fact, Mark gives us great advice: "But about that day or hour no one knows, neither the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father" (13:32). So why worry about it? Not even Jesus the Son knows. We should live our lives each day as faithful followers of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. That is something we can control. Extract from Liturgia. (© Copyright Liturgy Brisbane 2021)
